

The Breath Reset

Colour scheme and design guide

BRAND FEEL

Calm, grounded, premium wellness. The site should feel gentle, steady, spacious, practical, and trauma-aware.

- Avoid bright clinical styling, over-tech UI, dense copy, harsh contrast, or mystical overclaiming.

LOGO

Use logo.png as the active site logo and favicon. Header display size is 44px by 44px with object-fit: contain.

Use this palette with restraint: cream and warm-white do most of the work, sage carries action, charcoal creates contrast, and clay/sky add small moments of warmth and freshness.

Typography and UI

Type, buttons, cards, forms, and component behaviour

TYPOGRAPHY

Manrope for clear, grounded UI

Instrument Serif for soft emotional emphasis

Body: Manrope. Display accents: Instrument Serif italic. Headings are large, confident, slightly tight, and balanced with generous whitespace.

BUTTONS

Primary buttons are sage pill buttons with warm-white text. Secondary buttons are translucent outlines on dark imagery.

TEXT LINKS

Text links use sage-dark, bold weight, and a small arrow reveal. Footer links use subtle underline animations.

CARDS

Use cards only for repeated items, event rows, forms, video cards, and session offers. Surfaces are warm-white with subtle borders and soft shadows.

FORMS

Inputs use pale cream fills, 8px radius, charcoal text, and sage focus rings. Keep labels uppercase and compact.

• Use accent details sparingly.

Experience Rules

Layout, imagery, motion, responsive behaviour, and copy

LAYOUT

Use full-bleed, image-led hero sections. Keep inner content max width around 1220px. Use generous section padding and calm two-column editorial layouts.

IMAGERY

Use calm natural breathwork or wellness photography. Images are softly desaturated and darkened with charcoal overlays for white text readability.

MOTION

Reveal sections with a soft fade-up from 22px over 700ms. Hover movement should be subtle: 2-5px lift, shadow changes, or gentle image scale.

RESPONSIVE

At 980px the nav becomes a mobile drawer. At 640px, hero buttons stack full-width and decorative orbit elements are hidden.

Copy style

Short, grounded, reassuring. Use plain nervous-system and breathwork language. Avoid hype, mystical claims, dense explanations, and clinical coldness.

DO / DO NOT

Do: keep copy short, use whitespace, lead with actual imagery, and let sage carry primary actions. Do not: add busy card grids, bright colours, heavy decoration, or dense explanatory text.
